

Istrian Rubies Cabernet sauvignon 2009

An opaque black ruby wine developing hints of garnet, though still youthful in appearance. There is a more mature bouquet here with cedar, tobacco and wild herbs here adding complexity to the intense black fruit. To taste, it's still remarkably youthful for a ten year-old wine with powerful cassis and plum fruit and masses of structure. It's beginning to soften and mellow but still has plenty of keeping potential too.

Wine description:

- Variety : 100 % Cabernet sauvignon
- Color : The wine is extremely rich in deep ruby color.
- Aroma : The scent contains notes of ripe dark berries, cherries in spirits, liquorice, coffee, chocolate, spices, forest undergrowth and tobacco. The aroma is extremely complex, ripe fruity, warm and spicy sweet. The development of aromatics is intensified by decantation. In short, an extremely persistent aroma that continues in the structural taste of the wine.
- Taste : The taste is rich, full, soft, warm and sweet. The structural character of this wine offers us an abundance of pleasures in ripe fruit, which is dominated by black currants and sophisticated tannins, which have a bright future ahead. Wine is a set of excellence that only great red wines can have.
